

Mrs Howells' Challenge: Create your Family Tree!

At the moment, I'm spending lots of time away from my family and not seeing them in person – I'm sure lots of you are the same. However, we are extremely lucky to be able to send messages, letters or even talk virtually on Facetime or Skype.

So, my challenge for you is to use this time to talk with your family members and try and trace your family tree, then create it!

You could...

- Find out names and where they are from
- Find out who is related to who
- Find out interesting facts about family members
- Search through family photos or keepsakes and add these in

You could present this project however you like! There are so many ideas online – have a search on the internet for templates or examples.

Hopefully this will be a lovely way to make contact with your family members and it will be so interesting to find out about your family history too.

Good luck and enjoy!
